SAD board hears complaints about scheduling and phys. ed. grading

Meeting for the first time in more than a month, the SAD #44 Board of Directors dealt with a variety of issues Monday evening, but the directors opted to take no action—in fact, did not discuss—four letters from parents questioning the block scheduling of elementary art, music and physical education specialists.

Proposed by the administration early in the summer, block scheduling was discussed at two earlier board meetings. The directors eventually voted to support the administration's plan on a one-year trial basis, but only after several directors objected to the way in which the plan had been formulated and communicated. Others questioned the pedagogic effectiveness of such an arrangement.

The parents, whose letters were read aloud by Board Chairman Morton Brown, reiterated these concerns. Loretta Berry wrote that block scheduling's effect in the classroom would be similar to telling the children: "You have to do this month and next month you brush your teeth."

Leslie Cooley pointed to the long periods during which the children would have no exposure to art, music or physical education. And, she concluded, "It is my belief that the input should have been sought from parents earlier in the process, not at the end."

Addressing the board members, Sandra Ford wrote: "Even though you make the final decision, I would hope that you would appreciate some parental input before you make decisions of such major importance."

Wendy Penley did not debate the educational value of block scheduling, but echoed concerns with the way the matter had been handled. "Unfortunately, the Board and Dwayne Craig have once again made a major policy change without parental/citizen input."

Each of the writers compared the block scheduling decision to last year's Wednesday-afternoon-professional-development-time controversy, which was labeled a "fiasco."

At an earlier board meeting, several elementary school teachers also objected to the block scheduling plan, and for reasons similar to those cited by the letter-writers. Later, however, one of these teachers told the Citizen they had decided not to cloud the beginning of the school year with another destructive controversy. "We're going in with a positive attitude," she said. Parents, on the other hand, might raise the issue themselves when they see the plan in action, she said.

After he read the letters Monday evening, Chairman Brown asked the board members for comments. They had none, and went on to other matters.

The board agreed to establish two ad hoc committees to study student ranking. The first was in response to a petition from 37 parents and teachers who objected to physical education grades being included in a student's overall rank.

The second was in response to a proposal from Telstar High School Principal Ted Davis, who is seeking to adopt "weighted grades" when calculating a student's class standing.

Under such a system, more challenging classes would carry more weight in determining a student's class standing. This would encourage students to take more difficult courses and to try hard to do well in them, Mr. Davis said.

He said the weighted grades would have no effect on courses taken or on determining the school's honor roll.

The committees will study both proposals and report back to the board. The board approved a number of personnel appointments at Monday evening's meeting. Russell Tomrose was approved as secondary English teacher. Mr. Tomrose has a B.A. from Princeton University and an M.A. from Boston University. He taught for 22 years in Massachusetts. His salary will be $27,875 per year.

The board also approved the following appointments: Linda Leotsakos as language arts coordinator, Elsie Bonney as food service worker, Phyllis Buchanan as Chapter 1 instructional aide and Vicky Myers as full-time special education secretary.

The following extra-curricular appointments and stipends were also approved: Russell Tomrose as high school drama coach ($847) and Telstar auditorium manager ($400), Timothy Kersey as high school head boys track coach ($1,312), Sheri Dooen as middle school assistant.

Early deadlines for next week's paper

Because of the Labor Day holiday on Monday, Sept. 4, there will be early deadlines for next week's paper.

All advertising materials must be in the Citizen office by noon this Friday, Sept. 1.

All news items for the paper must be in by noon Saturday, Sept. 2. The Citizen office will be closed on Labor Day.

THE CHASE IS ON—Coon dogs swim after a caged coon being pulled across a pond during the coon dog trials portion of the New England Trappers

Trappers' Weekend draws large crowd

The New England Trappers' Weekend, in East Bethel, had the second-largest crowd ever, according to organizer Neil Olson. He said the picture-perfect weather was a big factor.

In addition to the seminars and demonstrations on trapping, visitors to the three-day event were entertained by Elvis impersonator Brandon Moore, who was a particularly big hit with the ladies. In the heaver toss (or log throw) contest, Jeff Fleet was the only local man to finish in the money. Other locals who made it to the top-20 were Neil Olson and Scott Berry (who tied), Brad Wight and Jim Osgood.

NTL winds up summer

The busy nine-week, multiple-program season of NTL programs in human resource development came to a close in Bethel last week, when the last of five concurrent workshops ended.

The popular Sunrise Seminars, offered up to five days a week for this period, also came to an end for the year. A set of 25 audiotapes of most of the Sunrise Seminars has recently been presented to the Bethel Library as a gift from NTL; they may be checked out for listening.

Although the courses and seminars have finished for the season, NTL activities will continue in Bethel over the next few weeks. During the Labor Day weekend the NTL Conference House will be the meeting site of the second annual Student Leadership Workshop, jointly sponsored by Telstar Regional High School and Gould Academy, with faculty drawn from NTL members.

Coming up for three successive weeks, starting Oct. 14, a total of four week-long NTL programs will be held at the Bethel Inn Conference Center, with participants and staff living at the Bethel Inn and other guest houses and inns in town. A further program will take place at the Bethel Inn Conference Center during the week of May 5-11, 1990. These programs will range from the well-known Human Interaction Laboratory to an Advanced Human Interaction Conference and another on Process Consultation.

The Bethel/NTL Liaison Committee, in cooperation with the Bethel Library, has established a shelf of books in memory of Ronald Lippitt, one of the founders of NTL, who had made a special contribution to the Bethel community. During 1986, his last summer in Bethel, he conducted a tutoring workshop for local officials and citizens, which led to the productive Citizens Community Conference in 1987.

At an NTL party in July, at the home of Barbara Douglass, Jacki Wiese presented to Larry Lippitt, Ronald's son, a plaque to be put in the library. The plaque reads: "In memory of Ronald Lippitt (1912-1986), a founder of NTL and a friend of Bethel." Books written by Ronald Lippitt, either alone or in collaboration with others, have been given to the library, and these may be found on a shelf on the second floor of the

W. Bethel housing project approved by planning board

The proposed 18-unit Towers housing project in West Bethel and its adjacent Ta-Ka-Radi Tiles assembly building were approved by the Bethel Planning Board last Wednesday night.

The board, with the absence of Reggie Brown and Elaine Merrill, discussed the points raised at the public hearing two weeks ago and seemed to agree with board member Don Feeney's assessment: "There wasn't anything negative of a substantial nature, according to my mind."

The vote to approve the site plan permit in order to add an additional business at their Maine Street Place building. The new space would be upstairs and would be divided between two tenants: a gem and jewelry store and a newspaper office.

The general manager of the newspaper, Pat Ferro, of the Rumford Falls Times, said she wanted to have a one-person office in Bethel. (The Rumford Falls Times is one of the papers of the James Group—the largest group of weekly papers in the state. The group has papers in Norway, Portland, Skowhegan and Windham, in addition to Rumford, plus two papers in New Hampshire, in Berlin and North Conway.)

Given the parking requirements in the town's Site Plan Ordinance, the number of parking spaces needed at Maine Street Place if another office is occupied would be 18½. While consultant Billy Stowell's plan for parking shows that many spaces available, board members were quick to point out that the plan is based upon a 9400-foot-wide space, whereas the ordinance dictates a 10-foot-wide space. The number of spaces available using the 10-foot measure would be 15, the board decided.

Mr. Stowell noted that nine feet is the generally accepted width for parking spaces. But Code Enforcement Officer Sam Timberlake said it was important to stick with what was in the ordinance.

"The way the Site Plan (Ordinance) is set up, it's 10 feet. If it's anything else it's going to need a variance—and it's going to be a precedent."

Board member Feeney agreed the town planners should not give a variance on the width of the parking spaces. "I'd rather stick with the size space we have and just vary the number [of spaces]."

Board members Dennis Doyon (who chaired the meeting in the absence of Chairman Brown) and Celina Couture voiced doubts about the adequacy of available parking on the lot, but board member Donna Remington argued that the businesses that were in the building did not have a large number of cars coming and going. Aside from the proposed gem shop and newspaper office, the building houses a real estate office, a child care center and a children's clothing shop.

Gene Kelly pointed out that there is actually more parking available on the lot now than there was previously, when no parking was available behind the building. The building burned down two years ago and was rebuilt, with the extra parking in the rear.

Gilead tax rate drops

Gilead residents got a pleasant surprise when their tax bills went out last week. The town's tax rate had dropped, from $19.15 per $1,000 of assessed valuation in 1988, to $17.85 per thousand for 1989.

Gilead Tax Collector Bev Corriveau attributed the decrease to three factors. The state has increased valuations for all three categories of tree growth (and much of the town is in tree growth). Two new taxable properties, a new home and a barn, came onto the tax rolls this year.

The home is being built for Sheryl Gilbert and her seven children, ages 3 to 18. The Gilbert family currently lives in an apartment in Auburn. They plan to move into their new home by Christmas. The one-acre homestead was donated by Tom and Elizabeth Gallagher, of West Paris. When the Gilberts' home is completed, Habitat's next project will be to build a home nearby (but across the West Paris town line) for the Gallaghers and their four children.

In brief remarks at the groundbreaking ceremony, State Senator Don Twitshell (D-Norway) and State Representative Ida Luther (D-Mexico) praised Habitat's work and offered to support the organization's efforts in the State Legislature.

Woodstock Town Manager Vern Maxfield welcomed the Gilberts on behalf of the town.

Habitat builds inexpensive but sturdy houses, using volunteer labor and wherever possible—donated materials. The homes are then sold to low-income families at cost, with no profit nor interest charged. Mortgage payments are recycled by the organization into its next home-building project.

The Gilbert home is to be 26 by 44 feet, with a single pitch roof and five rooms. The Gilberts will join other volunteers in building the house, which is expected to cost approximately $25,000.

Habitat families also agree to help build other Habitat homes.

The concept of building houses for the poor at no profit or interest was first developed by Millard Fuller and the late Clarence Jordan in 1968 at Koinonia Community, in Georgia. From 1973 to 1978, Mr. Fuller and his family put the principles of Habitat to work in Zaire, in central Africa, where they built hundreds of homes.

Bethel PD now at full strength

The Bethel Police Department is now up to its full complement—for the first time in about a half-year. Last winter the force numbered a chief and one officer. That number was pared first by the resignation of Officer Rickie Osgood and then by the resignation of Chief Eric Wright.

In the interim, the town was served by then-newly hired Officer Dale Bellman, plus reserve officers. When Town Meeting, in June, authorized a second full-time officer, the town still lacked a chief. Now the town has all.

Brian Stowell was appointed police chief last month, and last week Darren Tripp was hired as the second officer, to join Officer Bellman.

Officer Tripp is 23 years old and lives in Bryant Pond with his wife and two children. A Telstar graduate (Class of 1984), Officer Tripp served as a military policeman in the Army, specializing as a traffic accident investigator, until his discharge this past spring. Prior to accepting the $17,000-a-year Bethel PD position, Mr. Tripp was working as a printer. (His father is David Tripp, the graphic arts instructor at Telstar.)

Chief Stowell said his new officer is very well qualified for the job. Nevertheless, he will immediately send him to the state's two-week reserve officer's school in order for him to become acquainted with Maine police work. Later in the year he will be sent for the full 12-week course at the criminal justice academy.

Mr. Tripp was one of four finalists who

Sewer repair bids come in nearly twice as high as had been expected

Bethel Town Manager Rodney Lynch was not a happy man last Wednesday when he opened up the bids for the repair work needed on the sewer plant.

The town's consultants—DuBois & King—had told Mr. Lynch the actual work would cost between $300,000 and $400,000. Armed with that knowledge, and allowing about $100,000 for the consultants (who would have to draw up the actual repair plans and then supervise the work), Mr. Lynch presented a request to the sewer commissioners (another name for the Board of Selectmen) for $480,000, to be borrowed from the Farmers Home Administration. The selectmen approved the borrowing, as did Town Meeting.

Mr. Lynch said last week the amount—already borrowed—will not be nearly enough, and he blamed the consultants for leading him astray.

The actual bids ranged from a low of $634,000 to a high of $830,000—for the repair work alone. Add to that the $100,000 for the consulting engineers. The result is $830,000 to $930,000.

All in all, it added up to deep disappointment for Mr. Lynch. And it will be quite disastrous for sewer users, and for the town in general. As long as the sewer plant remains unrepaired, the state Department of Environmental Protection has warned the sewer commissioners to not allow any new customers to hook up to it. This has brought development in the village to halt.

The DEP and town officials are still negotiating on the terms and penalties involved in a consent agreement between the State and the Town. Part of the terms are that the town agrees to make the needed repairs at the plant. The repairs are expected to increase the handling capacity of the plant from its present limited capacity of just over 100,000 gallons per day of sewage to about 200,000 gallons per day. The plant's rated capacity is 300,000 gallons per day, but town officials say they doubt it ever operated at that capacity.

In its present state, the plant sends poorly treated, as well as untreated, sewage into the Androscoggin River during high flows, such as following heavy rains.

Town Manager Lynch said he will discuss with the sewer commissioners the question of borrowing more money in order to be able to hire a contractor to do the repair work. The lowest bid was submitted by T. Buck Construction, of Stratford, N.H. The bid was $834,136.

Opinions

How much is too much

What's the expression some women use?: You can never be too rich or too thin.

Maybe, but it seems that there are times when too much of a good thing is no longer good. Too much rain, for example, or too much sun; or even too much money and/or being too thin.

What about parking?

It becomes frustratingly clear when there is too little, such as, occasionally, at Prim's Pharmacy or at the Post Office. And it was to prevent more problems like these from cropping up that the drafters of Bethel's Site Plan Ordinance formulated tough standards on parking requirements.

The standards are as follows:

- For a multi-family dwelling, two spaces for the first bedroom and one space for each additional bedroom;
- For motels and hotels, one space per bedroom plus one space for each employee;
- For bed & breakfast establishments, 1 space per bedroom plus two for the innkeepers and one per employee;
- For guest dormitories, one space for each two sleeping spaces;
- For retail shops, one space for each 200 square feet of retail space;
- For restaurants and lounges, one space for each three seats;
- For professional and business offices, same as for retail, but with at least two spaces;
- For public offices and buildings, a minimum of five spaces;
- For laundromats, same as for public offices;
- For barbershops, beauty parlors, etc., a minimum of five for customers;
- For banks, a minimum of 10 for customers, plus one for each employee;
- For health centers, conference and recreation centers, one space for every two potential customers, plus one for each employee;
- For industrial plants, one space for each employee.

If all of Main Street's retail stores, public offices, professional offices, banks, and restaurants were to have the number of parking spaces required by the ordinance, parking lots would have to be carved out where buildings now stand. The reason most establishments on Main Street don't meet the requirements is, of course, because they existed prior to the adoption of the ordinance and were "grandfathered in." (Possibly the only older Main Street establishments that meet the parking requirements are the banks and the IGA.)

That having been noted, is parking really a great problem in downtown Bethel? One may not always be able to get a parking spot in front of the Post Office, but one also never has to park three blocks away.

If parking is not a problem, why the severe parking requirements in the Site Plan Ordinance?

The drafters—and Town Meeting, which adopted the ordinance—were worried that parking could become a problem unless each new business provided ample off-street parking. While the goal was laudable, the measures taken were too harsh. The cure could kill the patient.

After living with the ordinance for two years, business interests in town are complaining that it is almost impossible to start a new commercial venture, or expand an existing one. They are right.

And the upshot of such a policy will be to force new commercial ventures to locate outside the downtown area. This, of course, runs counter to the town's Comprehensive Plan, which envisions a core urban area surrounded by a rural, relatively undeveloped area. The plan seeks to avoid the blight of strip development, with commercial establishments setting up shop in strips along the highways leading to town. This already is happening along the Sunday River Road and will likely happen on Rte. 2, leading to Sunday River. Those developments are inevitable, given the strong commercial requirements of the skiers encamping at Sunday River during the winter. Forcing business out of the downtown area because of impossible-to-meet parking requirements will exacerbate the tendency toward strip development. The town will be worse off for it.

The Board of Selectmen should appoint an ad hoc committee to work with the Planning Board to take a close look at what the Site Plan Ordinance has accomplished—for good or ill—during its first two years in existence. This committee should be charged with making recommendations on amending the ordinance. Among the suggested amendments should be one easing the parking requirements downtown. The number of spaces required for a downtown establishment should be considerably less than for a similar establishment in a mall because of the existence of curbside parking downtown. As the ordinance now stands, a downtown establishment and a mall establishment are treated exactly the same in terms of parking requirements. This concept will either choke the town's commercial growth or spread that growth out into the supposedly rural areas. It should be changed.

Letters to the editor

To the Editor:

I am not sure where the discussions of the skateboard/roller ski ordinance have finally lead. Some of the details of the discussions I have witnessed, however, are worth noting.

You cited Arthur Gilbert's opinion that these activities be banned on the main roads in town. What he went on to say was that they be banned only on Main, Church and Railroad streets. Let kids do what they want, within the bounds of safety, on the other streets. It was the only balanced approach I heard: clear the true hazard areas and leave the normal and healthy variety of activities. Let the range of age groups interact with caution and vigilance throughout the remaining community area.

Where there is vitality there will be risks. The community depends on the vitality, the daily mix of ages and activities. The measure of risk is balanced by the measure of care each group takes for the other. Eliminate the variety of activity in order to eliminate the care and the community empties. Kick the kids and their skateboards out of town and soon we will be less disturbed. But the town will be like a garden without its birds. What will remain for us to see for activity will be car parties and hanging out in the parking lots. Aren't the kids more inspiring, a local hero, or even a visiting Olympic Team cross-country skier going by on roller skis?

How easily it is handled in other towns. In Hanover, N.H., for example, a town much larger and with more traffic, the kids are educated to safety, admonished to courtesy. The problems in town find an in-town solution. Roller skiers (there are 10 times our numbers) might hear a police loudspeaker say behind them, "Single file, please." The adjustment is made easily and without grudge.

Pat Doonen's idea that the kids raise money and buy a piece of land for a market was a thin try at romance, but the kids, no surprise, weren't impressed. "If they have no bread, let them eat cake." While talking safety on the one hand, she had no problem with sending the kids out onto Rte. 2 for a mile on their way to their self-financed park. This attempt at thinking is plain specious, has lost, or doesn't want, the tether of reason or human generosity. Exile youth and its unusual sports; dedicate the community to adults only and the automobile. America's version of India's sacred cow. Wouldn't it be simple for all parties to share the space, go a little slower, take more care?

Actually Alan Jodrey called it pretty well when he noted that the same person a kid might bump into on a sidewalk about it.

In the 1989 session, Maine legislators passed what appears to be the toughest bottle law in the country. The new measure, which was included in a recent solid waste bill, will affect the food industry significantly.

They are saying it is an expansion of the bottle bill. What they've passed is a total change of the bottle bill.

As of Jan. 1, 1990 the law will include liquor and wine bottles.

In September 1990 the law will include all liquid forms of drinks fit for human consumption packaged in quantities less than one gallon, except milk. (Think about it.)

With the increased handling fee (two to three cents) to encourage people to set up recycling and redemption centers, the containers will not have to go back to retail stores.

If the bottle bill works—and I think it should—the coming thing will be retail would probably be the one who ran into the kid on the street. Go a little slower, take a little care. He also said we all know we can't please everyone all the time. True enough. And true enough, the ordinance will please a few all of the time, though none of those have appeared in the hearings. Why not exile the ordinance, keep the kids in the community and let us all work with each other and the new police chief. The price of improving courtesy and safety will be a lot lower in the long run than simply forcing the kids out of town. "Out of sight, out of mind" never has worked, even if an ordinance said it would.

He also noted that if they had put only apartments into the building the available parking spaces would more than meet the requirements of the ordinance. He said he didn't think the town really wanted more apartments to the exclusion of businesses. "I think the Planning Board and the town should give a little on this."

Ginger Kelly said that most buildings on Main Street had less parking available for customers and tenants than their new building. "We've tried to do the best we can for parking," she said. She pointed out that she had recently signed a three-year lease with neighbor Don Brooks to guarantee continued use of the perimeter between the two lots for parking.

The matter will be discussed again at the Sept. 13 meeting of the board.

A proposed bridge over the Barker Brook, off Rte. 232 near the Bethel/Milton Township line. There are two houses on the far side of the brook, to which residents presently walk over a makeshift plank bridge. CEO Timberlake advised the board to stay away from the issue. "It's a DEP problem," he said, and the board shouldn't discuss it until the landowner begins the permit process with that state agency. The proposer of the bridge, Ken Lyons, was not at the meeting.

In 1976 the Fullers returned to the United States, and Habitat for Humanity was formed. Since then, Habitat has expanded to 243 cities and towns in the United States and Canada, and to 24 nations in Africa, Asia, and Central and South America. The organization said that, today, two houses a day are completed by Habitat projects around the world.

Habitat welcomes volunteers and donations. Anyone interested in participating in the Woodstock, or other, Habitat projects is asked to call 988-4010.

TRACI HIGGINS GOING ABROAD

Traci Higgins, daughter of Carroll and Sharon Higgins, of Locke Mills, is participating in the Bates College Junior Semester Abroad program.

A psychology major, Ms. Higgins will study at the University of New South Wales, in Sydney, Australia.

Students at Bates have the option during their junior year of taking either a semester or full year in a foreign country. Both programs provide them opportunities to study and conduct research at hundreds of colleges and universities throughout the world.

Students Stephen Savary, program director, the JSA experience serves to enhance students' college careers by offering them opportunities to live in other cultures and speak other languages.

"The program provides students with different perspectives and gives them a chance to explore and grow in new environments," he added.

Some students at Lewiston's Bates College enroll independently at the foreign university of their choice, while others take the option of foreign study programs offered by other accredited American colleges.

Ms. Higgins is a graduate of Telstar Regional High School.

fertilizers, pesticides, road dust, grass clippings, detergents, yard debris, pet wastes, septic system effluent, motor oil, manure, and other materials disposed of on the ground by homeowners.

Fortunately the phosphorus levels in most area lakes has not yet reached the point necessary to stimulate an algae bloom, and there are many citizen groups, lake associations and government agencies working to keep them that way. It is up to all of us who live and play within a lakes watershed, all the land that contributes water to a specific body of water, to be aware of our activities that can affect water quality. Together we can make a difference.

There is a feeling of fall in the air. The gardens are having to be harvested, school is coming right up; and in the mornings it is almost chilly enough to put on the heat.

As I sit here I am listening to tapes of the '30s that I received through mail yesterday from Reader's Digest. I have never got used to the rock and roll of today. Once in a while I will enjoy one of the newer songs but not too often. Did read that the big name bands of the '30s, '40s and '50s are making a comeback.

Mr. and Mrs. Kerry Smith and son Danny came from Newburyport, Mass., to his folks, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Smith's, and also for his 20th reunion of graduation from Telstar, which was held at Sandy Wheeler's the weekend of Aug. 19. This class was the first graduating class from Telstar.

The same day, Homer, Edie and grandson Danny Smith, went to East Bethel to Brian Plawlock's for a cookout with other friends and relatives. Brian made a pit and after a very hot bed of coals was ready, he put in a whole pig—minus head and entrails—and covered it. When time to uncover, it was done to perfection and enjoyed by all.

Aug. 13, Homer Smith and his sister-in-law, Helen Smith, went to Stephens Memorial Hospital in Norway to visit Homer's brother, Gardner Smith. Gardner should be back home now to Sudbury Village.

Joe and Gerry Shimamura had Aug. 19 her cousin Eva and Bob Pillsbury, of Concord, N.H., come until Aug. 20. Gerry's uncle Walter and Carolyn Bond, of Pittsfield, N.H., came Aug. 19 and went back Aug. 20. Thelma Merrill was brought from Ledgewick Nursing Home, in West Paris, Aug. 19 to visit her daughter and relatives for the day. Aug. 18 was Gerry's birthday. Aug. 19, Joe Shimamura and Bob Pillsbury went to Fopham, bluefishing.

Chris Laban, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Laban, returned Aug. 18 from his summer work in Norway, Europe.

Stan and Althea Brown have had a artesian well dug.

Ernest and Alberta Angevine had her sister, Betty Blake, and three granddaughters for dinner to celebrate Betty's birthday. The three girls are the daughters of Lee and Terry Blake.

Tony Chapman and Amy Kennett were married Aug. 19 at Tony's home in Locke Mills. Frank and Ida Chapman attended the wedding of their son. They honeymooned in Southwest Harbor.

Aug. 20, I had a barbeque here in observance of George's birthday. Besides George, "Frankie" and I, Wilbur Gibson, of Lewiston, came (his wife couldn't make it but sent up enough for a meal). Karen and Sarah Page, our granddaughter, Theresa Gibson, Karen Kutchen and Kristin Gibson also came. Theresa Gibson and Karen Kutchen spent the night before.

Aug. 22, Jake and Barbara Immonen, of West Paris, stopped in for a visit. Aug. 19, Gerry Shimamura came for a short while.

Kristin and I have been busy making jams, canning and freezing. A very busy time of year.

Joyce Stearns went to East Andover, to visit Vivian Barlow and Vivian's daughter, Patricia Bennett, who is visiting from British Columbia, Canada. Aug. 20.

Lee and Terry Blake brought their three daughters to her parents, Charles and Ruth Mason, of Bethel, who is visiting from British Columbia, Canada. Aug. 21 when he went for his checkup at Togus. Aug. 24 Charlie had to have more tests at Togus, so after Ruth and Charles visited Terry and girls in Augusta.

Ruth Mason said that someone, or probably more, had vandalized Ben Gordon's camp on the mountain.

Frank Gibson left Aug. 18 for Benedita and came back Aug. 20.

Religion may not keep you from sinning but it keeps the joy out of it.

Mrs. Ruth Dunham has been visiting her daughter and husband, Mary McMillan, Rumford, for a few days.

West Bethel

By CONSTANCE BROADBENT

"Dear Margaret, Congratulations on your R.N. Another generation of nurses begins. Hippi Hippi! I'm only sorry that I didn't get to help you study as I did when your mother and our aunt were in training. I coached them so often that terms like "myocardial infarction" and "tension pneumothorax" are just household words to me. However, you survived the long hours of studying, you have cause to celebrate.

"There is always a 'cause celebre' here in West Bethel. Someone is born, someone dies, someone has a birthday or anniversary. Olive Head has enjoyed three different celebrations of her 86th birthday recently. The first was at her monthly Senior Citizens outing, the second was at a special lunch treat with Ruby Rolfe. And the third was at a gathering of Ladies of the Chapel Aid.

Twenty-one of us trooped to Berlin, N.H., for a supper at Northlands Restaurant and a chance to sing Happy Birthday to "Aunt Olive," as she is affectionately known here in West Bethel.

"Seated at the 'Head' table were Mary Butler, Olive's daughter from Union, Iva Abramson, Frances A. Bennett, Doris Brown, Evanna Davis, and Claire Gabriel. Also Marilyn Gilbert, Ina Grover, Nancy Grover, Fumi Head (daughter-in-law) and Sheila Head (another daughter-in-law) joined the throng.

Jane Hosterman, Josephine Kendall, Jeanne Kimball, Tyrene Lovejoy, and Ellie MacMunn enjoyed the ambience, along with Grace Morrill, Clara Rolfe, Helen Saunders and Connie Vautour. The delay in the service, necessitated by the preparation of 21 meals at once, no doubt, afforded us all a chance to chat and to chortle. The evening went without a hitch, unless you count the spilling of Helen's ice cream cone, dip side down, on the not-so-spotless floor. We sang a chorus of "Happy Birthday" as Olive obligingly exhaled on the single candle perched on her pecan pie. It was a memorable celebration all around.

Linda Westleigh was unable to attend that celebration of Olive's life; a prior commitment to Tupperware tooling kept her (and another 20 guests) away. But Linda celebrated life's beginning recently as her granddaughter, Andrea Lynne Pivin, was baptized at the West Bethel Union Church. Rev. Norman Rust officiated at the sprinkling and naming, with Jane Hosterman as his assistant. Beaming onlookers included the baby's sister, Laura, and her parents, Lisa and Paul Pivin. Aunt Sue Pivin served as proud godmother while the grandparents, Linda and Reg Westleigh and Jeanne Grieco and Norman Pivin, smiled approval from their seats.

Great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. David Curtis, traveled from Norridgewock (accompanied by another granddaughter, Jennifer Gray of North Vassalboro) to join another great-grandmother, Elizabeth Pivin, for the celebration. The baby is fortunate to have a great-grand-grandmother, Frances Bennett (Pleasant Valley Road), who joined the churchgoers and helped with the luncheon that followed at Lisa and Paul's home.

Meanwhile back at the Grange Hall, new members Caroline and Charlie Merrill got a taste of what grange is in West Bethel. The potluck provisions were varied and tasty as usual. John and Pauline Applin hosted the affair—that means that they set the tables, picked and potted the flora of the forest, poured the coffee and supervised the cleanup. Upstairs, at the meeting, Master Helen Saunders presided over the "formal" (I

Upton

By ARLINE BERNIER

Margaret Mitchell and Tex Fogwell entertained 46 relatives at the fifth annual homecoming at Upton on Sunday Aug. 20. The large tent protected everyone and anything from possible showers. Coming from Sebago Lake was Mrs. Thillie Grundy, three of her daughters and their families, Anne and John Rizzo, Sr., John and Diane Rizzo, Jr., and Joseph and Patti Rizzo, all from Levittown, Pa. From North Bellmore, N.Y., was Mrs. Cathy Gail, and from East Meadow, N.Y., Frances and Dan Cahill. Felicia and Walter Griffin, Westbrook, Mrs. Muriel Scott from Boothbay, executive director of Senior Spectrum, central area, in Gardiner, Ethel and Lee Dow, from Old Orchard, her children, Edmund and Lurinda Presby, Windham, Elaine Presby and Pat Murawski, of Gorham. Mrs. Elizabeth Jansson, her children, Nathaniel and Kristian, friend Marlys Martin with Jessica and Nicholas, also Edmund Presby, Jr., and James Presby, of Saco.

Mrs. Mitchell's two daughters and families, Jacqueline Fedchenko, her children Wendy and James Trotter, their children Jason, Christine and Sara, Robin and Joel Fedchenko, with Miranda and Paul and Andrew Burnham, Alberta and Richard Donovan and two daughters, Vicki and Dwight Laughlin and Jennifer Donovan and friend Mike Williams, completed a very happy family circle.

My timer, dear niece, tells me to wrap this up and get it off to the editor. Again we say "Brava" to you and best wishes as you enter the world of healing and caring. Your accomplishment, by the way, entitles you and the sisters of your choice, to a free weekend at the Maine, that sanitarium in the sky. Remember that it's the home of your favorite aunt—the one who loves diamonds and is generous to a fault. We expect to see you soon!

AMC hosts discussion on wilderness issues at workshop in Gorham

The Appalachian Mountain Club (AMC), together with the Trust for Public Land (TPL), and the National Outdoor Leadership School (NOLS), is co-sponsoring a conference to examine forest landownership patterns in northern New England and how they will affect forest and recreation land management on private land in the 1990s.

The conference, entitled "Recreation/Private Ownership: Conflicts and Opportunities," will be held Oct. 13-15 at the AMC's Pinkham Notch Camp, in Gorham, N.H.

At issue is the management of large tracts of undeveloped timberland in northern New England and New York. These lands have been a great backcountry recreational resource for thousands of outdoor enthusiasts, thanks to the goodwill of timberland owners. However, encroaching development is threatening the existence of these large landholdings. In bringing together timber companies and the environmental community—neither of which desires continued fragmentation of the northern woods—the goal of the conference is to develop workable solutions for the future.

On Friday evening the conference will begin with an overview of the U.S. Forest Service's Northern Forest Lands Study. On Saturday, guest speakers and the audience will explore the following topics: in-depth management problems associated with fragmented forest lands; landowner perspectives on recreational uses of private timberlands; innovative organizational models for conservation; and strategies for maintaining large landholdings. Presenters will include experts from the three sponsoring organizations, as well as representatives from the USFS's Northern Forest Lands Study Group, other public agencies, timber companies, universities, and the environmental community.

The conference also includes a fireside discussion on Wilderness Ethics, Saturday evening entertainment, and an outdoor skills workshop offered by NOLS on Sunday.

Everyone interested in long-term management strategies for private timberland in northern New England and New York, and the outdoor recreation opportunities they offer, is encouraged to attend. The conference registration cost—including two nights' lodging at Pinkham Notch, all meals and snacks, entertainment, and the NOLS workshop—is $125 per person ($100 prior to Sept. 1) for conference and meals only (no lodging) the cost is $35. To register and for more information, contact: AMC Research Department, P.O. Box 298, Gorham, NH 05531; or call (603) 466-2721.

NEW COP ON THE BEAT—Darren Tripp was appointed Bethel's second full-time officer last Wednesday. He is welcomed to the force by Police Chief Brian Stowell.

East Stoneham

By GLADYS KILGORE

It begins to look like fall around here. My little hummingbirds will soon be leaving me. They are such interesting birds. Mrs. Frances Grant and Mrs. Ferris and children went to Conway, N.H., shopping.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Nelson Sr. spent the weekend at their camp at Wilsons Mills.

Brenda Files and several of the employees from Evergreen Valley went to York for the day Monday to see the animals.

Mrs. Grace Nelson expects to return to her home soon. She has been staying with her niece, Mrs. Nancy Bryan, in Sweden. Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Grover visited their daughter and family at Boothbay for a few days.

Mrs. Sarah Grover went to Norway shopping one day last week.

were interviewed for the job. There were originally 15 applicants.

Chief Stowell also hired a new reserve officer recently. He is April Crowley, of Dixfield. The 26-year-old Dixfield graduate has been a security guard at the Auburn Mall. Ms. Crowley joins reserve officers Norm Clanton, Crawford Perry, Terry Perry, Phil Taylor and Jim Morrissey as the police force's back-ups.

Chief Stowell says he is still looking for more reserve officers since the amount of time any one of the reserves can devote to police work is very limited.

With his department now at full strength, the chief says Bethel will have round-the-clock coverage. While actual patrolling will be limited to 16 hours a day, one officer will always be on call during the hours when there is no patrol. He says the hours of active patrolling will be varied.

A cloudy morning this Wednesday morning, and cool also. At times it really feels like autumn won't be far away, but the real date for it is still a ways away. The dry weather we had earlier has helped make some of the leaves turn color prematurely, or so it seems anyway. Seems as though that happens quite often when the summer is rather dry. I always look forward to the beautiful fall colors but don't want them to come earlier than they should.

Had our first sweet corn from the garden yesterday and was it good. I did not eat as much as the rest as my stomach wasn't feeling good. However, what I did have was delicious. We have had carrots and beets and they are getting to be good-sized now so will soon be coming the beets if I can find enough jars. It doesn't seem possible that the companies would stop making them but I have been told they are not available this year. That sure makes it hard for those of us who have jars that take rubbers. If one is buying they had better buy the ones with the dome lids and be sure they have what they need.

Tom has been with us now for a little over a week, but the time flies so fast and he will soon be going back to Colorado. We enjoy having him around where we don't see much of him and hate to have the time slip by so fast. However, one can't stop the flow of time at all, no matter how hard you try.

I was at the doctor's last Thursday but on Friday my back seemed worse again so went to the chiropractor for help also. It was some better but still not all right. I tell them I need a transplant on my left side. They laugh and think it funny, I guess, but it isn't so funny to me. However that is the only way to get by at times.

Saturday was dance night for Peggy and Russell and they went to Greene to the dance there. Brother Tom had suggested a game of cribbage, but then Grace called to ask if Tom had said anything about going for a ride with them. He had forgotten about it but she asked me to go along so we got ready in 10 minutes and were off to see the sights. I hadn't been up on Paris Hill for a very long time and that is where Lawrence headed. How things have changed in just a few years. We went out toward Buckfield, then took a road to the right, the Whitman School Road I believe was the name of it, and it brought us back on to the regular Buckfield road. Don't remember the name of the next road we took but it brought us back onto Paris Hill. We started down the back side of the hill and took another road to the right and then other roads leading off from whatever road we were on. It was fun to see how many homes there were but surprising to see how many of them had for sale signs on them. It is amazing how many folks would like to sell their homes, and also amazing the number of new homes that are being built. I have an idea that the homes for sale are so high priced that folks find it just as reasonable to build as to buy. What other reason for all the homes for sale? Anyway, we had a good ride and saw lots of countryside about on Paris Hill and toward North Paris. It was good to see all the new and lovely homes that have been built. We finally came out at Hungry Hollow and came home as it was getting toward dark so one couldn't enjoy the scenery as well. Sunday was a busy day as there was to be a party at Lawrence and Grace's home to celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary. It should have been in January to be the right date, but they didn't want to try to have a crowd in the wintertime so did it last Sunday. Their daughter Eva (Polly) had made a lovely cake for the occasion and the girls had decorated for the party also. We weren't present when they went through their wedding vows again with their granddaughter, Debbie Dyer, being the minister, but Grace got a new wedding ring. I don't remember what had happened but her old one had had to be cut off so she had been without for a few years.

What a lovely way to celebrate. Lots of relatives from both sides of the family were there as well as many friends. Some of the relatives had been at our house for dinner preceding the celebration. Peggy's daughters, Myrna and Kaye, with husbands Bernard and Otto, along with brother Bryce and wife, Barb, were here to have dinner with Tom, Peggy, Russell and I. We had a wonderful time and a lovely dinner, if I was the one to get it. A boiled dinner with the vegetables right from the garden can't be beaten, and that is what we had, with strawberry shortcake to top it off. We were all full and then to go up there to the party afterward and they had lots of good food for those who wanted it. A wonderful day was had by all. I think we had asked others to come to dinner but they couldn't come, but we sure had a good time.

I had told Tom he could use my car while he was here and, wouldn't you know, the darn thing has had to go on the blink. First of all there was a leaky gas tank he thought might be fixed with sealant, but no dice. The other day he took me to town and on the way home we heard this awful racket and a coil spring went rolling across the road. He got out to examine things but couldn't see anything wrong so thought the spring had been in the road and we just had not seen it, but when I went out to the car yesterday morning I could see it was tipping back pretty hard and wondered what was wrong. When they looked the situation over they found the thing that holds the spring coils in back had let go and that was a coil from my car that went rolling. So the car is in the garage again for that to be fixed. If it isn't one thing it is something else to make life interesting if that is what you call it. Sure takes money.

Wendall was up yesterday afternoon to pick string beans to have to can. We have had a lot of them and canned some ourselves and given family members a lot to can also. Always something to be done in the garden at this time of year. Russell has one of the best around. Have said enough, I guess, so take care and have a good week. Hope everyone stays healthy and enjoys life.

ARTISTS FROM MASSACHUSETTS were in Bethel painting houses (on their easels) recently. They were taking part in a workshop put on by Jo and Romeo Baker at their Newry gallery.

MASSACHUSETTS ARTISTS HERE

Fourteen artists from the Andover (Mass.) Art Association journeyed to Bethel and Newry to attend a watercolor workshop over the weekend of Aug. 18-21. Sponsoring the Friday through Sunday class Bakers Art Gallery, at Sunday River, in Newry.

Travelling individually and in groups, 12 of the 14 members were guests of Steve and Peggy Wight, proprietors of the Sunday River Inn.

Instructor for the three-day course was Nordia Kay, award-winning watercolorist from Marblehead, Mass., and Bethel. She lectured and performed two watercolor demonstrations on outdoor locations and at the art gallery. Barbara Yates donated the floral arrangements for the indoor displays used on Sunday. Selected sites for painting included Screw Auger Falls, in Grafton Notch State Park, several farmhouses and barns, the letter "B" swimming hole near Ketchum, and several historic homes on Broad Street in Bethel.

The group was so impressed with Bethel's charm and history, with Newry's rural setting and old barns, they wish to return and record much of it in watercolor.

Mrs. Dori Hallman and Heather, of Durham; Mrs. Irene Taylor, of Topsham; Mrs. Judy Smith and Dirk; Mrs. Karen Lanthier and son, Jacob Scott, of Bucksport; Mr. and Mrs. Scott Saunders and son, Devon, of Charleston, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Harrington, Aug. 20.

There was a large gathering at the church last Sunday, with Rev. Rust officiating.

John Howe and son Tom, of Vancouver, Canada, visited Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hastings on Aug. 17.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Villeneuve, of Vermont, visited Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kimball Aug. 20.

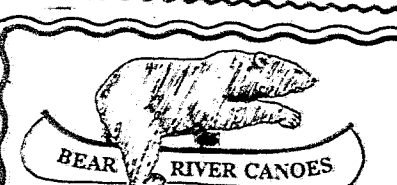

Mrs. Josephine Tyler, of Dixfield, picked me up on Aug. 25 and we attended the show "Nunsense," at the Maine State Theater in Brunswick. Mrs. June Stearns, of Rumford Corner, took me to Lewiston Aug. 23 for a cataract operation in my right eye.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Chappie were in Massachusetts over the weekend to attend the wedding of Mr. Chappie's brother.

Mary Farwell Smith is in Maine Medical Center for a hip replacement operation. Her address is Room 612, MMC, Portland 04102.

Child support collections increasing, but still low

The Maine Department of Human Services reported last week that the percentage of child support payments is increasing, due to collection efforts by the department. Human Services' Commissioner Rollin Ives said federal officials rank Maine as the leader among New England states in increasing child support collections.

Additionally, Commissioner Ives said, his department's support enforcement and location unit ranks 4th in the nation in the percentage of AFDC payments recovered through child support collections, and 3rd in the nation in cost effectiveness.

Nevertheless, according to a spokesman for the department, absent parents (mostly fathers) who are supposed to be making child support payments usually don't. Of about 29,000 cases statewide in which there is a payment obligation from an absent parent, only about 10,000 to 12,000 absent parents are actually making payments, spokesman Colby Jackson told The Citizen.

According to federal statistics, Maine collects 21 percent of its AFDC expenditures. This is over twice the national average of 9 percent. Translated into dollars, this amounts to almost $19 million in AFDC collections and $13.7 million in non-AFDC collections, for a grand total of almost $33 million in fiscal year 1989. "This is an increase of almost $5.5 million, or 20 percent, over 1988 and $2 million over our projected results for this year," Mr. Ives said. "To get these kinds of results we took over 20,000 enforcement actions statewide."

The majority of the collections are a matter of forcing absent fathers to pay for child support. The department handles cases for clients receiving AFDC benefits as well as for those who do not. In the case of an AFDC mother, the state is able to recoup AFDC dollars by forcing an absent parent with a legal support obligation to pay child support. This, in turn, offsets AFDC expenditures.

By DORIS C. LAWRENCE

As I am writing the news this Friday morning it is kinda chilly. Joe Vatcher said it was 34 degrees at his place. He had to scrape the frost from his windshield. Good weather to sleep.

Saturday, Aug. 19, Robert Anderson, Sr., from Massachusetts, called at the Vatchers. Other callers have been Helen Berghold, Saugus, Mass., and Grace White, Merrimack, Mass.

West Paris Senior Citizens will meet Sept. 5 at the Congregational Mission Church for a potluck dinner. Bring your own utensils.

Saturday, Sept. 2, West Paris Grange will have a dance, with music by Richard Felt and company; prizes and home made pies.

Greenwood City

By COLISTA MORGAN

Last evening, as the sun was sinking across the western sky, the clouds were glowing in colors, a blaze of crimson. I walked down my driveway to see the sky better and also the reflection in the water. The domes of the mountains were slowly transformed, changing from greenish gold to fiery red, yellow, and orange.

Then there came a whirr of wings and a splash. The ducks were in the weeds. This was nothing wild or thrilling, no exciting happening, just a simple pleasure. I watched the change; sometimes shadows overcast the golden tint. Looking at the house, my end windows were overcast with gold. They matched the goldenrod by the roadside.

The next day the rising sun produced a crimson glow and I chose an old road to go to the woods. It had lost itself in washed-out hollows. A partridge as well as a deer had used my road. The partridge made itself known. After flying up it sat and nodded, sure of itself here in the forest. As for the deer, its tracks were evident. I could almost feel innocent orbs of liquid brown within the green grove, watching me.

I paused often to look out upon the deep winding valley of trees and mountains in the distance. These things gladden the walk of one who pushes into the forest or high fields.

Nearer home now, I looked through the forest windows and saw the pond with shades of color against the sky, which was wearing turquoise blue and a design of cirrus feathers.

A blue jay broke the scene and stillness with its squawking. I dipped into a little hollow filled with ferns and I took a last look at the wild and lonely beauty, which I had seen many times but somehow was always different.

Ann Holt was at the home of her parents several nights, as she had surgery on her knee.

On Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. Larry Durgin had a birthday party for their six-year-old son. I went with the Holt family after spending the afternoon with them at the farm.

My visitors this week were Sally and Mary Holt, Norway; Tommy Bragg III, West Sumner; Rena and Kathy Curtis, Eya Felon, local; Ernest Munk, Bethel. Leonard Holt was in Lewiston on Wednesday to see his eye doctor.

Ann Holt had many callers this week while at the farm. On Thursday, I spent the day with Lettie Brooks and went for lunch and shopping in Norway.

SAD #44 fills vacant positions

The SAD #44 Superintendent's office last week announced the following appointments to positions within district schools.

Susan Burnham is the new school secretary at Andover Elementary School this year. Ms. Burnham has an Associate's Degree in Secretarial Sciences from Andover College. She has previously worked for Kelly Services in Portland; was an office manager at Goodwin's of Exeter, in Exeter, N.H.; and has been a secretary in the Physical Therapy Department in Stephen's Memorial Hospital.

Heather Carson is a new English teacher at Telstar Regional High School. Miss Carson attended Bates College in Lewiston, majoring in English, and received her Bachelor of Arts degree from Bates in May 1989. Miss Carson was on the dean's list at Bates all four years and has been a student teacher in the English departments at Edward Little High School and Lewiston High School. Miss Carson was a teaching intern at Hebron Academy and a teaching assistant at Oak Hill High School in Wales. She is moving to the SAD #44 area from Chichester, N.H.

Cynthia Dawson, from Rumford Center, will be a new speech clinician within the district. Ms. Dawson received a Bachelor's Degree in Speech Pathology/Audiology from the University of Houston, Texas, in 1981. She has continued her education, taking courses through the University of Maine, Farmington. Mrs. Dawson was previously a speech and language clinician in SAD #17, a teacher's assistant in SAD #43 (Mexico), and a speech/language therapist in the Houston, Texas, school system for three years.

Lee Dolleman will be the new Special Ed. Composite Room Teacher at Telstar Middle School. Mr. Dolleman previously taught in SAD #39 at Buckfield Jr.-Sr. High School for seven years. He has also taught at Hall Dale Jr. High School, Great Bay School, and was a teacher's assistant at Oxford Hills Jr. High School. Mr. Dolleman received his Bachelor's Degree from the University of New Hampshire, in Durham, and has completed post-graduate work in Special Education for Emotionally Disturbed through the University of Southern Maine. Mr. Dolleman lives in South Paris.

Jean Gardner is returning to SAD #44

as a 2nd Grade Teacher, at Ethel Bisbee School. Mrs. Gardner previously taught 1st Grade at Ethel Bisbee and was a pre-kindergarten teacher in the Pottstown, Pa., area. Mrs. Gardner has been a consultant for the "English as a Second Language" program at Gould Academy and was a long-term substitute teacher in SAD #38 (Livermore Falls) and SAD #9 (Farmington). She received her Bachelor's Degree in Education from Ohio Northern University.

Also returning is Mary Jane Gaudreau as a part-time Kindergarten teacher at the Woodstock Elementary School. Mrs. Gaudreau was previously a 1st Grade teacher at Ethel Bisbee School for a number of years and has done long term substitute teaching within SAD #44. Mrs. Gaudreau received her Bachelor's Degree from the University of Maine.

Sharon Higgins will be the new English and Math teacher at Telstar Regional High School this fall. Mrs. Higgins has been English Dept. chairman at Mexico High School, in SAD #43, for the past three years and previously taught at Mt. View High School, in Thordike. Mrs. Higgins has been a substitute teacher in SAD #44 at Mt. View Sr./Jr. High School; Pittsfield, Barnet, and Deerfield, N.H. Mrs. Higgins was also a part-time English teacher at Coe Brown Academy. She received her Bachelor's Degree in Education from the University of Maine at Presque Isle and has completed additional courses through the University of New Hampshire and the University of Maine. Mrs. Higgins resides in Locke Mills.

Joyce Perkins, from Hanover, will be a Business Education teacher at Telstar High School this coming school year. She received her Bachelor's Degree from Hanover College and has completed additional education courses. Mrs. Perkins taught Business Education previously in SAD #21 at Dirigo High School in Dixfield. Mrs. Perkins has 20 years of experience in the business field.

Linda H. Stowell, of Bryant Pond, will be the new Elementary Music teacher in

NEW TEACHERS IN SAD #44 include Linda Stowell, Sharon Higgins, Heather Carson, Mary Jane Gaudreau, Joyce Perkins, Cynthia Dawson and Lee Dolleman. THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

All members and friends of the Bethel Historical Society are reminded that the 24th annual meeting of the Society will be held Thursday, Sept. 7, at 7:30 p.m. in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House. A 6:30 potluck supper will precede the meeting. Anyone attending is requested to bring a hot dish, salad or dessert.

The nominating committee, consisting of Lynda Chandler representing the trustees, and Betty Perkins and Ronald Stevens the general membership, will present a slate of officers and trustees for 1989-90.

The annual presentation of the Marjorie MacArthur Noll Volunteer Service Award will be made and several new honorary members will receive their certificates. Featured speaker for the evening will be Gwilym R. Roberts of Farmington, who will speak on the subject, "Sources of Local History: The Routine and the Remarkable."

A native of Brownville, Mr. Roberts graduated from Brownville High School and Farmington State Normal School. After teaching in Greenville, Maine, he received B.S. and M.A. degrees from the University of Maine. Hired as a one-year substitute at Farmington Normal in 1940, he retired from the college's successor, the University of Maine at Farmington, in 1983, as the senior faculty member in the state university system.

During the Farmington years, he served as Dean of Instruction and was the first chairman of the History Department. He also was the first Dean of Arts and Humanities, remaining in that capacity for 11 years.

In addition to his graduate work at the University of Maine, Roberts studied at the University College in North Wales on a Fulbright grant, and also did graduate work in History at Columbia University.

His chief research interest during his academic career has been the migration of Welsh slate quarry workers to New England and the communities they established; his other major interest has been the history of Maine villages, especially in the first half of the 19th century.

Since retiring from full-time teaching, in 1983, he has served one term in the Maine Legislature and organized the UMF alumni travel program. As director of that program, he has taken alumni groups to many nations.

LOOKING BACKWARD

10 Years Ago: Steven Kraus, M.D., joined the Bethel Area Health Center as the full-time medical director. Harold and Edda Carver, Sharon and Julie Daye, Tommy and Scott Kennahed as Disney characters, appeared on WGAM, Channel 13, for the Jerry Lewis telethon for Muscular Dystrophy. The Newry Community Church celebrated its 75th anniversary with special services at the church and a picnic on the grounds. Mrs. Sadie Brooks was in attendance; her father had helped build the church 75 years before.

Births: Justin E. Bane.
Marriages: Maxwell R. Meisner and Gwendolyn J. Falkenham.

Deaths: Bruce Henley.
20 Years Ago: Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rich, Paradise Hill, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary. Officers elected at the annual meeting of the Bethel Historical Society were president, John Grover; vice-president, Edward Quinn; secretary, Eva Bean; treasurer, Faye Taylor. Five yards of pennies were reported to have been received for the Society's endowment, bringing the total to 917 yards, or $1,025.53. A training class in civil defense emergency feeding was held in Garland Chapel. Mike Inman, of Albany, Tom Remington and Andy Davis, of Bethel, were tri-captains of the 1989 Telstar Regional High School football team.

Marriages: Earle V. Colby and Carolyn G. Mills; Phillip O'Donnell and Claire Bachelier; David Hutchins and Charlotte Coolidge.
Deaths: Susan Averill, Mabel Cameron, Mary C. Taves.

50 Years Ago: Oxford Paper Company had 752 employees who had served the company for 25 years or more. The foundation for the lodge at Sunday River Skiway was being laid. The parking area had been cleared and graded. Frank Vogt, William Cousins, and Frances Minot joined the faculty at Gould Academy. Mr. and Mrs. Chester Cummings, of Hanover, were honored at an open house celebrating their 37th wedding anniversary.

Marriages: Wayne E. Bennett and Virginia A. Wright.
40 Years Ago: Bethel's first bazaar was held in late August at the corner of High and Mechanic streets. The field events were held on the Gould Academy athletic field. Over $1,600 was collected for the Community Welfare Fund. (This was the predecessor of the present Mollycodd Day and was held on the site of the present Irving station.)

Births: Brian E. Hathaway.
Marriages: Stanley Tyler and Arlene Garey; Clayton C. Curtis and Sally Stowell.

50 Years Ago: The shed, stable and barn at the George Haines homestead, in East Bethel, burned. The Brink-Brown family reunion was held at the Bear River Grange Hall, at Newry Corner. The Bean family at Songo Pond.

Marriages: Thomas W. Vashaw and Elizabeth Flanders.
Deaths: Elizabeth A. Hatstat, Stanley F. Barrett, Juliette F. Curtis.

Local runner wins Wildman Biathlon

Dillon Gillies, of Bethel, finished first in the 50-plus age group in last Saturday's Wildman Biathlon, held in conjunction with the annual Shelburne Festival.

The biathlon required competitors to run 10 kilometers along the North Road, in Shelburne, N.H., then bike 25 miles to Wildcat Mountain, including a vertical climb of 2,000 feet, and finally to run again—straight up the mountain—another 2,000 feet to the summit.

Mr. Gillies' time was two hours and 28 minutes. The fastest time was turned in by Richard Fargo, who won the 20-29 age category. His time was 1:58. Winning the 30-39 category was Richard Graves, in 1:59. Shane Brainerd won the 40-49 category, in 2:12.

Among the women, Stephanie Holzman was fastest, in 2:29. She also won her category, 30-39. J. Warfield won the 20-29 category, in 3:02.

Over 70 racers competed, and all of them finished the grueling course, said to be the most challenging multi-sport single-day event in New England this year.

After the race, the competitors and their families were treated to a ride down the mountain in Wildcat's gondola. They were then treated to a chicken barbecue dinner, a horseshoe tournament and the awards ceremony.

DURING THE SHELBERNE FESTIVAL, in Shelburne, N.H., last weekend, the new Chester C. Hayes Memorial Park was dedicated. The 16-acre park, off Main Street, is expected to eventually have a playground, a skating rink, basketball and tennis courts, a softball and Little League diamond, a nature and cross-country trail, and a picnic area. Speaking at the dedication, Saturday, is Shelburne Selectman Lyn Newell. Others taking part in the ceremony were Bob Corrigan (Park Commission), Asa Brosnan (Friends of Shelburne Recreation), and Scott Wilfong (Park Commission). At far right are some of the square dancers who gave a dance exhibition.

MISS BRINITZER ENGAGED

Rev. Marjorie Churchill, of Andover and Michael W. Brinitzer, of New York City, announce the engagement of their daughter, Anna Margaret Brinitzer, of Andover, to Sean Pierre Perry, of Rumford, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter and Pat Perry, of Rumford.

Miss Brinitzer graduated from New Hampton Prep, in New Hampshire, in 1985, and The University of Maine at Farmington, with an associate degree in Liberal Arts/History, in 1988. She is presently working toward her Bachelor of Science in Rehabilitation Services, which she expects to receive in 1990 from the University of Maine at Farmington and then go into graduate school to get a masters degree in Physical Therapy. She is presently doing a "field experience" at Orchard Park Living Center, in Farmington.

Mr. Perry is a 1989 graduate of Rumford High School and is presently employed at Shop-In-Save. He is planning a career in the medical field and will attend college in 1991.

A July 1990 wedding is planned.

Rebel stickers win pre-season opener, 4-0

The Telstar field hockey team won their pre-season opener last Wednesday against Sacopee. Amy Hannon led the scoring with a goal just 10 minutes into the first half, with an assist by Kris Clement.

Amy Laban scored the next goal, with Becky Hunt assisting. Hannon then moved in to score goal number three. Later, with just two minutes remaining in the game, Shilo Hutchins, assisted by Amy Hannon, scored the final goal, resulting in a 4-0 victory for the Rebels.

The Rebels played a great game with good passing and a strong offense that kept the ball in their possession for most of the game.

With almost 30 girls out for the team, co-coaches Sally Hannon and Gail Wright are optimistic about a good season.

The Rebels traveled to Fryeburg yesterday (Tuesday).

Notes from the Woodstock Historical Society. Here is an elegant contemporary setting:

"A discussion of the film, the stars and the book on which it had been based kept the conversation going until they moved to the open-air dining room. By now the moon had risen and was silencing the sea outside."

Certainly the movies are now an important part of our heritage. Ruby Emery has given some small items to the museum.

The Greenwood Historical Society will meet Wednesday, Sept. 6, at 7:30 p.m., at the Society building on Main Street.

The Greenwood Fire Department will meet Tuesday, Sept. 5, at 7 p.m. at the fire station.

The Greenwood Fire Department Auxiliary met Tuesday, Aug. 22, at the fire station. The plans for the Western Maine Firemen's Association dinner were discussed.

There will be a potluck supper at the Sunday School room on Thursday, Aug. 31, at 5:30 p.m. This event will give people interested in meeting the prospective new minister for the church a chance to get acquainted with her. Her name is Genevieve Heywood and she is looking forward to seeing all of you.

John and Lorraine Mills visited her father, Charles Swan, in Fryeburg, last Saturday and had supper with him.

Val Greene and one of his sons-in-law were back working on the garage roof this past week.

As I read the pastor's column last week I thought, "Oh, no, here we go again." If STAGE ONE STUDIO OF DANCE Under the direction of Barbara Gasser, the third season of the Stage One Studio of Dance will begin the week of Sept. 16. Registration will be held Sept. 6, at the Lions Den, on Main Street, Bethel, from 5 to 7 p.m.

Ms. Gasser has kept "in step" this summer preparing for classes and performances in the fall. As a member of the Dance Teachers Club of Boston, she attended a two-day seminar, taking classes from some of the country's most prominent dance teachers. She was also asked by the Maine Dance Teachers Club to be an instructor at their two-day summer workshop, teaching its teachers and students.

A former "Rockette," Ms. Gasser belongs to the Rockette Alumnae Association and meets with the New England Chapter to rehearse for performances in and around the Boston area. This group performed for the Mahosuc Arts Council at Telstar last spring.

This fall Ms. Gasser will also be teaching tap and ballet with Debi Irons in their new studio in Norway. Ms. Irons is a teacher of jazz and the "Energize Us" dance group. The two teachers have joined in an effort to bring excellence to their students in all three of the major dance forms.

Ms. Gasser plans a costume recital at the end of this third season, but she says her goal is not getting her students ready for the recital—rather, it is getting them to dance for the joy of it.

Every Friday: Friday Gift Shop, at the Bethel United Methodist Church, during summer, 1-5 p.m.

one reads the Bible one should not be surprised that weird teachings abound. The Bible says to beware of those who will lead you astray. The Bible is full of accounts about men mightily blessed by God who, when they reached the top, forgot who they were serving, and why, and God brought them down—still loved but no longer blessed. Hidden sin, the Word says, will always come to light sooner or later.

Television evangelism was never meant to take the place of the one thing that has always been the backbone of the Church of Jesus Christ on earth, and that is the local congregation. They are the ones who will have pastors dedicated to teaching forgiveness, salvation, holiness, and the finished work of Jesus Christ on the cross, who love the Lord, work at leading holy lives, laugh and cry with you, teach, exhort, correct, and are in turn ministered to by a loving congregation. Balance—always the Lord's balance—and you won't be deceived by every teaching coming down the pike.

Read your Bible. Grounded in the Bible you will usually know when something is wrong. Yes, we were given minds to use—read for yourself instead of letting someone do it for you. As for evolution—most of us don't dismiss it, we just believe in evolution within the species. We believe we evolved from created man—not created monkey. But whatever you believe about the origin of the universe no one has yet been able to get past "In the beginning, God..." We believe that we are not perfect—just forgiven—by a loving God who looked on His creation—and, in the light of eternity—called it good.

So. Woodstock

By OLIVER R. DAVIS

The Willing Workers (Up and Go Community Center) organization has been in existence for many years. Only a few members are now in attendance at the meetings. The group through the years has kept the Union Church useable for persons to use for group suppers, gatherings, baby showers, receptions and other activities.

We welcome anyone in the area of South Woodstock or surrounding areas that is interested to attend the meetings whenever possible. Everyone is welcome.

We need to keep it a workable organization as the Union Church is the only place in this area where public or private gatherings can be held.

There are expenses incurred each year, such as insurance, lights, corporation fee and others. We would like to be able to help families in need and give scholarships whenever possible. But with only a few doing the work it is very discouraging. If more help could be given, only a little would need to be done by each one. We also have fun working and getting together.

Please think about it. The next meeting will be held Sept. 6, at 7 p.m., at the Union Church, Andrews Corner. The meetings will be held the first Wednesday of each month at the same place, as long as the weather permits.

During the winter the members take turns, if they want, by having the meetings at their homes. The date, time and place will be in this column the week prior to the meeting being held. Hope to see some new faces at the meeting Sept. 6 or one of the other upcoming meetings.

Tuesday Esther Davis and I were in Buckfield. We called on Ruth Barnette, South Paris, coming home.

Saturday we went to Berlin shopping. Aug. 16 I attended a Stanley party at Alice Hoyt's, Bryant Pond.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Brooks came up

With stomping feet, the "Laughing Polka" and chicken dances were enjoyed and 80 members of the party went to Taisto Koskela's farm in South Woodstock for softball, horseshoes, reminiscing and snapshot viewing. There after me and we attended West Paris Green Sash Night. Then Monday, Aug. 21, we were at Franklin Grange for Gentlemen's Night.

Patricia Tibbets had supper with her mother, Esther Davis, Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Taisto Koskela attended the Finnish American Society annual picnic, held at Oxford Hills school cafeteria on Aug. 13. They reported over 200 present.

Aug. 20, 106 descendants of Edward Koskela and Zilda Ketunen Korhonen, Paul and Amanda Koskela Hilden and Peter and Sue Haakkariinen held a reunion at the South Paris Legion Hall.

Taisto Koskela welcomed the group and an opening invocation was offered by Wilko Allen. A luncheon followed with $6 being a bountiful meal. On display were wedding portraits of the Koskela-Korhonen weddings and a hidden family album.

Guests came from Lewiston, Auburn, South Paris, West Paris, New Hampshire and Massachusetts. Gordon Gurney with his wife Kim and daughter Sarah, traveled the farthest, coming from Delaware, N.Y. Also celebrated was the
